

Job Advertisement

Kronegger GmbH is a manufacturer of NFC subsystems that are used in NFC-Phones, NFC-Tablets or Car-Sharing solutions. The company is located in the Technology Park in Grambach close to Graz. Due to excellent engineering skills, we are able to deliver solutions with a high-quality that enables successful relations to customer and partner all over the world.

Due to the growth of the company, Kronegger GmbH is looking for

Embedded Software Developer

with a higher technical college or university background in Computer Science, Electronics or Telematics.

What you can expect:

- Interesting and challenging work in developing embedded software
- Define and clarify specifications for new products and functions together with the customer
- Review, testing and implementation of Software-Modules
- Continuous Development of existing Software
- Architecture and Software-Reviews
- Integration of new drivers and modules to the complete systems including integration and regression-tests
- Implementation of RF-Protocols and Software-Modules
- Development of Software-Concepts as well as coordination of Software-Concepts

What you should bring in:

- Technical education in the field of Computer Science, Electronics or Telematics
- Solid English skills
- Experience with C/C++ and C#
- Ability to work in a team
- Motivation and willingness to learn
- Personal interest in developing Software

What we offer:

- Attractive and flexible working environment
- Continuity and Stability
- Possibility to develop in an international and fast growing industry
- Easy to reach and well connected by public transport (Bus) and direct access to the highway.

We offer an annual gross salary between EUR 22.000 and EUR 50.000 for this position, depending on relevant experience, qualification and education.

Interested? Please send us your application including CV to:

Kronegger GmbH
c/o Frau Yasmin Ansari
Parkring 1
A-8074 Grambach bei Graz | Austria/Europe
T: +43 316 40 31 25 E: office@kronegger.com